RECLA TARPON 42P

This Tarpon 42P is a floating living space, designed to adapt to different cruising plans: canals, rivers, lakes, or coastal waters. Versatile and comfortable, it is suited to family living, cruising with friends, or extended stays on the water. The Tarpon 42 was designed by the naval architect Gilbert Caroff and built by Recla.
Designed with onboard comfort in mind, it features two independent cabins and two bathrooms with toilets, offering a practical layout for everyday life. Thanks to the convertible saloon, this Tarpon 42P can accommodate up to 10 people, allowing you to welcome family and friends.
The fully equipped kitchen, fitted with a gas hob, refrigerator, and extractor hood, allows you to prepare meals on board. Open to the spacious saloon, it is suited to meals and moments of relaxation.
At the heart of this area, the dining space in the interior saloon forms the center of life on board. The large windows provide a panoramic view of more than 180°, flooding the interior with natural light.
Please note that this boat is an owner’s version designed for both inland and coastal navigation, offering great freedom of use.
